The 2024 editions of the Roadway Standard Drawings & the Standard Specifications for Roads and Structures become effective for all new projects letting on or after January 1, 2024, and these documents include several additions, deletions, and other modifications to the respective 2018 editions. By copy of this memo, all approved work zone training firms are hereby notified that any training courses held on or after April 1, 2024, shall utilize course materials and participant handouts which reference and incorporate the 2024 editions of these documents.

Training program owners are responsible for updating their course materials and distributing them to all training firms authorized to use their programs. Training program owners and training firms do not need to submit updated course materials for Department review unless notified of a pending training program audit.

To aid in updating training programs, the Department has developed changelogs covering the major changes made to the 2024 editions of these documents, and they are available at the links below:
