

Handling of Suspicious Packages or Envelopes

State Capitol Police recommends that state employees who encounter suspicious mail should:

- Carefully inspect mail for unusual characteristics. If in doubt, DO NOT OPEN.
- If opened mail reveals a suspicious substance, do not sniff, touch, taste or closely examine it.
- Leave item where it is or place it on the nearest flat surface. Even if spillage occurs, DO NOT try to clean it up. Cover the contents immediately, if possible, and restrict access.
- Stay calm. Report object to your supervisor.
- Alert others nearby to relocate to an area away from the site of the suspicious item.
- If yours is a state agency in Wake County, report the incident to the State Capitol Police at (919) 733-3333. If outside of this area, contact your local law enforcement agency.
- Everyone who has had contact should wash hands with soap and water to prevent spreading.
- Stay in the designated area until State Capitol Police arrives and provides additional instruction.

This online document is a collaborative production of the State Capitol Police and Mail Service Center. 8/10

If a package or envelope appears suspicious,
DO NOT OPEN IT.
CALL STATE CAPITOL POLICE (919) 733-3333
or your local law enforcement agency